
Example Research Paper Scaffold (continued)

Conclusion

What is your answer to the question? (Give the facts that support your point.)

The most likely explanation seems to be that color does affect one's mood, but the effects are different for girls and boys. However there are some similarities. Some results in the student survey were different from the cited research. Now it is obvious that colors have a great affect on mood.

References

Author last name, first initial. (date). title of article. date retrieved (if online publication), pages (if print publication) of the references cited.

Airey, D. (2006). How does colour psychology work? Retrieved October 19, 2007, from <http://www.davidairey.com/how-does-colour-psychology-work?>

Eric, John, & Paraag (2007). Color psychology. Retrieved October 19, 2007, from <http://library.thinkquest.org/27066/psychology/nlcolorpsych.html>

Johnson, D. (2007). Color psychology. © 2000-2007 Pearson Education, publishing as Infoplease. Retrieved October 19, 2007, from <http://infoplease.com/spot/colors1.html>

Smith, K. (2007). Color: Meaning, symbolism, & psychology. Retrieved October 19, 2007, from <http://squidoo.com/colorexpert/>

Wollard, K. (2000). Orange you glad you're not blue? Retrieved October 19, 2007, from <http://wf2l6.webfeat.org>